Jeff Wolf embodies thoughtful leadership, practical wisdom, and a commitment to building strong teams. Jeff values technology, hands-on tools, and surrounding business owners with trusted advisors while focusing on growth, mentorship, and long-term success. We asked Jeff a few questions to get to know him better, and here is what he had to share.

What is your best business tip?

I advise business owners to surround themselves with a team of people who can advise them on law, accounting, insurance, and the core talents to make them successful. Meet with them at least once a month. If you are the doer, make sure someone is driving while you are making the sales.

What is one thing you can't resist?

A Dairy Queen blizzard

What is one accomplishment you are most proud of?

I coached fast pitch softball for my daughter's team ages 12 to college. Our goal was to grow our talents so that each player could compete at the Division 1 level and many of those young women succeeded, a few of those participated in the Division 1 World Series. My daughter was successful pursuing a Division III softball career taking the Wash U Bears to a D3 World Series second place finish in 2007.

What is your favorite genre of music?

Classic Rock. I do not know what that says about me because when I was younger, I could not stand to listen to those stations.
